Unlock Enterprise-Wide Insights Through Unified
Data Querying with Natural Language

Business Challenge

Organizations store data in multiple formats – structured databases, semi-structured reports, and unstructured content. Despite the wealth of information, most of it remains underutilized because there's no centralized system capable of retrieving and synthesizing data across these diverse sources. This leads to missed insights, bottlenecks in decision-making, and persistent operational inefficiencies.

To move past this challenge, organizations need a solution that allows business users to access deep insights from all data types, without needing technical expertise.

Brillio's Decipher GPT for Unified Data Access

Brillio's Decipher GPT is a multi-AI agent system that enables users to retrieve enterprise-wide insights through natural language queries. It intelligently orchestrates multiple specialized agents to handle structured and unstructured data, delivering contextual results that include reasoning steps, visualizations, and feedback mechanisms.

- Natural Language Queries: Users can ask questions in plain English, no technical knowledge required.
- Orchestrator Agent: Identifies query intent and routes it to specialized AI agents.
- Specialized AI Agents: Retrieve relevant information from structured and unstructured sources.
- Synthesis and Visualization: Results include charts, insights, follow-up prompts, and explanations.
- Rating & Feedback: Users can rate responses and bookmark useful queries.
- Chat History & Personalization: Maintains historical queries for continuous context.

Use Case Examples

- Ask a single question and pull insights from databases, reports, and documents.
- Retrieve data from emails, PDFs, or presentations without knowing where it's stored.
- Enable faster decision-making by democratizing access to data.
- Empower business teams to explore information independently.
- Streamline knowledge discovery across operations, sales, and strategy.

Benefits

- Easy insights, without requiring much technical knowledge
- Democratized knowledge across the organization
